Where applicable state where the work was done, including the biophysical characteristics of the area. Provide a map where necessary using line art drawings on white background. Coloured scanned or photographed maps are not acceptable.

Materials and Methods

To include a description of approaches, equipment and tools used. Procedures carried out should be clearly explained.

Results

This should be separated from discussion and should concisely present data of findings. Illustrative data such as graphs should be processed using Microsoft Excel before transferring to Word; while tables should be placed as addendum after references (see section on Tables).

Discussion

Findings of the study should be clearly outlined and should give precise explanation of findings, also relate it with the findings of others; giving reasons for similarities or differences.

Conclusions

The implications of your findings should be stated.

Acknowledgments

May be given if necessary.

References

Those cited in the text should follow the Author-Date System i.e. last name of author (year) for single author, author and author (year) for two authors, author et al. (year) for three or more authors. Use authors pers.comm. for personal communication with authors; in press can be used if manuscript referred to has been accepted for publication and is in the process of being published. If the manuscript is unpublished or awaiting review by a Journal it could be cited as (author, unpublished data)

In the reference section list references alphabetically (APA reference style). The reference must include author(s), year of publication, full title of paper, Journal volume and page numbers. Journal titles should be italicized. Examples of presentation formats for cited articles from journal, proceeding, books and chapter in book are given below.
